18th October 2002, Orissa

Indian Association for Women's Studies

PRESIDENT'S WELCOME
Xth General Body Meeting, October 2002

Distinguished members of the General Body of the IAWS,

I, along with all my colleagues of the Executive Committee, extend to you a warm welcome to the General Body of the Association. We as a team got elected after the IX National Conference at Hyderabad and took charge of the Association in June 2000. We formally began work from August 2000.

The Executive Committee (EC) consists of the following office bearers: Dr. Zarina Bhatty, President, Prof. Pushpa Bhave, Vice President, Dr. Lakshmi Lingam, General Secretary, Ms. Jarjum Ete, Joint Secretary, Prof. Rameshwari Varma, Treasurer, Dr. Vidyut Bhagwat, Editor of the IAWS Bulletin; and other members, who are Dr. Jashodara Bagchi, Dr. Kumud Sharma, Dr. Gabriele Dietrich, Dr. Seema Sakhare and Ms. Vasavi. Two of the elected members Ms. Sureka Dalvi and Ms. Anjali Bhagwat from the Ordinary members category could not continue in the EC since their membership term expired and was not renewed. Dr. Vina Mazumdar and Dr. Kalpana Kannabiran were ex-officio members. They have given this EC support from time to time. We have co-opted Dr. Asha Hans as a member into the EC early this year, to facilitate the organising of the X National Conference.

On the recommendations of the earlier EC, we had identified members as Regional Co-ordinators. Dr. Jasodhara Bagchi, is the Eastern Regional Co-ordinator, Prof. Pushpa Bhave is the Western Regional Co-ordinator, Dr. Kumud Sharma is the Northern Regional Co-ordinator and Dr. Gabriele Dietrich is the Southern Regional Co-ordinator. We found this system useful in reaching out to the regions. We have organised regional workshops, the details will be elaborated by the General Secretary, Dr. Lakshmi Lingam.

All the EC members brought in considerable experience into the Association and its activities. Despite, it being a purely honorary task and despite several academic, activist and familial commitments, all the members have done their best for the Association during this period. The present Conference is a culmination of the efforts of all members and well wishers of the Association.

The IAWS Secretariat moves with every election to a place where the General Secretary is located. Having a mobile Secretariat has its advantages as well disadvantages. While this helps instill new energy in running the office every time a newly elected person takes over, it also means reinventing procedures or reorganising and streamlining old things to a new order. We have to place on record our appreciation to the Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai, for the support given to set up the Secretariat in the Institute and permiting Lakshmi to give her time to the Association. Lakshmi Lingam had managed all the tasks wonderfully well. She should be credited for carrying out all the suggestions made by this EC and recommendations made by earlier ECs as well. Prof. Pushpa Bhave, has provided Lakshmi Lingam with requisite support from time to time. Lakshmi had also shouldered the responsibility of compiling all the publications brought out for this Conference. Her narrative report will elaborate the details of the activities undertaken by this EC.

Prof. Rameshwari Varma, a senior member of the Association has shouldered the responsibility of being the Treasurer. The efforts of the earlier ECs has borne fruit. The IAWS has acquired a PAN number. This is extremely helpful for tax purposes. Efforts are underway to receive permanent tax exemption. The EC that would take over from us should look into this task. Prof. Varma's report will give more details on the financial status of the Association.

Dr. Vidyut Bhagwat has provided a lot of impetus to increasing the visibility and quality of the IAWS Bulletin, which is an important mode of communication with the membership. Dr. Vidyut Bhagwat, the Editorial team of the Bulletin and her colleagues at the Women's Studies and Research Centre, Pune University need special praise for their contribution to the IAWS and the publication titled: 'Our Story: Twenty Years of IAWS', meticulously edited by them.

I am glad to inform you that the elections for the new EC have been conducted by Dr. Mary Alphonse, Principal, College of Social Work, Nirmala Niketan, Mumbai. Despite her busy schedule she had volunteered to give time to the Association. We deeply appreciate that. The results of the Elections are appended to this report. I am sure that we have another extremely competent EC waiting to help the Women's Studies movement to grow manifold.

Prof. Asha Hans, first organised a Regional Workshop with the Association and then offered to organise the National Conference. I am extremely happy at such a well organised Conference and we deeply appreciate all the individuals who have put in their energies together to make this happen.

Dear Members of the Association, I invite you to the proceedings of this General Body Meeting of the IAWS.

Dr. Zarina Bhatty,
President, EC
October 2000 – 2002

GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT

Distinguished Members of the Association,

Greetings! The expectations of the IAWS among the members and from the larger academic community have growing over the years. The Executive Committee (EC) is therefore entrusted with a lot of accountability to its membership as well as the wider community. The present EC had taken the mantle of running the Association in the year 2000 — the year that was at the threshold of two centuries. The new millennium brought with it new hopes and old anxieties. The EC attempted to address some of these. I shall present to you the activities undertaken by us in the years 2000–2002.

I EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETINGS

During the two and half years of tenure that we have served we had 1 Joint EC meeting, 4 EC meetings and one Office Bearers meeting. The meetings were in Hyderabad, Mumbai, Pune and Delhi. The EC as per the recommendation of the past EC considered it desirable that members who are elected from different regions of the country take charge to focus on the regional gender concerns as a prelude to the National Conference. Thus for the first time EC members were identified to be personally responsible for collaborating and co-ordinating regional workshops/seminars. The distribution is as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Northern Region | — | Dr. Kumud Sharma |
| Eastern Region | — | Dr. Jasodhara Bagchi |
| Western Region | — | Prof. Pushpa Bhave |
| Southern Region | — | Dr. Gabriele Dietrich |

II REGIONAL SEMINARS / WORKSHOPS AND NATIONAL CONFERENCE

The pre-existing crises of basic livelihoods, food and income insecurity; unemployment; environmental degradation; class, caste and gender violence; increased burdens on women and reduced entitlements to resources, are being felt in an intensified manner spawned by the bewildering processes of globalisation of the economy, politics and culture. Given the criticality of these issues, particularly in a context of Structural Adjustment since the early 1990s, the Executive Committee (EC) of the Indian Association for Women's Studies deemed it fit to focus on the subject 'Globalisation, Women's Identity and Violence' in the regional workshops. We had 6 collaborative workshops in the 4 regions. We had two workshops each in the Eastern and Southern regions. Within the Eastern region the new areas that the IAWS covered were the Jharkand and Bhubaneswar. The enthusiasm that we had witnessed during the regional workshop helped us decide on collaborating to organise this National Conference.

The themes at each of these workshops were as follows:

- State, Civil Society & Women's Empowerment, was organised by the Department of Women's Studies, NMKRV College for Women, Bangalore, 30th November & 1st December 2001.

- Dalit Feminism: A Critique of Difference, was organised by the Women's Studies Unit, Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai on the 1st & 2nd August 2001.
- Globalisation, Identity Politics and Rising Violence, was organised by the Political Science Department, Gandhigram University and co-organised by the Centre for Social Analysis, Madurai on the 24th & 25th of March 2001.
- Globalisation and Women's Identity (within the Orissa Context), was organised by the School of Women's Studies, Utkal University, Bhubaneswar, 13th & 14th March 2001.
- The Impact of Globalisation on Women's Lives, was organised by the IAWS with the collaboration ABHIYAN, Ranchi, 4th & 5th November 2000.
- Multi-culturalism and Gender Issues, was organised by the Centre for Women's Development Studies (New Delhi) and Institute for Women's Studies, Lucknow University, Lucknow on the 28 to 30 September 2001.

III OTHER COLLABORATIONS:

The IAWS has partially funded (Rs. 5000) a workshop organised by one of the EC members, Dr. Vidyut Bhagwat, Director, Women's Studies Centre in collaboration with Muslim Organisations on the subject "The Politics of Muslim Women's Question in Contemporary India", held on 21st and 22nd March 2001 in Pune, Maharashtra.

The IAWS has extended support to the cause of the Girl Child by extending a small contribution (Rs. 5000) to Women's Coalition for Peace and Development (WCPD) for purposes of communications and meetings. The organisation - WCPD, is working to promote policy attention to the girl child as a priority in national (Government and NGO) planning and programming for development.

The IAWS had partially supported (Rs. 15,000) the efforts Ms. Kusum Dutta, Researcher from Calcutta who has attempted to trace the Women's Studies Movement in India jointly with Prof. Jasodhara Bagchi.

IV CONSTITUTIONAL REVIEW

The outgoing EC has suggested that the new EC would undertake the incomplete task of reviewing the IAWS Constitution and seek the consensus of the members. The present EC had set up a Committee headed by Prof. Pushpa Bhave as Chair Person, Dr. Lakshmi Lingam as ex-officio member, Dr. Neera Desai as member. The Committee for expert opinion consulted a legal adviser Mr. Mihir Desai. After several consultations the amendments were sent out to the members Under Certificate of Posting. The response was collated and presented in one of the EC meetings and was approved by the EC. This EC places on record appreciation of the efforts put in by Prof. Neera Desai, Prof. Pushpa Bhave and Mr. Mihir Desai in providing direction for these amendments.

Two of the suggestions pertaining to: increasing the tenure of the EC from two to three years and revising the membership rates have been approved by the members. The response to the amendment pertaining to the convergence of Life and Ordinary categories for purposes of election was not approved. The amendments have come in force from 1st May 2002. The Registrar General of Societies, New Delhi, has been duly informed of the changes. The changes have been incorporated in the Constitution and have been made available to new and old members. The cost of printing letters with enclosed prepaid envelopes to seek amendments on the Constitution and postage is approximately Rs. 25,000.

V ELECTIONS

The elections for the XI EC were carried out after seeking amendments to the tenure of the EC from two years to three years. Despite her busy schedule Dr. Mary Alphonso had agreed to be the Returning Officer and carried out the Elections. The results of the EC are enclosed with this report. The expenditure on printing and postage of the directory with nomination and consent papers; ballot papers with pre-paid envelopes has been Rs. 65,000. I am happy to inform the GB that there was good response in the Life Members category for contesting and also voting. The response from the Ordinary members category and Students category is not encouraging.

VI NEWSLETTER

The IAWS maintains contacts with its members and the Women's Studies community through a newsletter. Dr. Vidyut Bhagwat of the Women's Studies Centre, Pune University is the editor of the newsletter. She and her Editorial team have brought out 5 newsletters during this period. Dr. Vidyut will elaborate her activities as an Editor in her report.

VII WEBSITE

Keeping in step with the new age technologies and the need to share information in the cheapest and fastest way, we have launched the IAWS website with the URL http: //www.iaws.org/ on the internet. Many people found the site useful with the conference-related material and downloadable membership and registration forms. The background information for the website was researched and provided by Ms. Kusum Dutta of Calcutta. Some of it, was compiled with assistance of my research staff. Lingam Technologies Pvt., Ltd., have designed and launched our site and are maintaining it. They have done this at a nominal charge (Rs. 9000). The website can be expanded further to carry out a lot of interaction with the Women's Studies community in the future.

VIII LOGO

The Association in its existence over the past twenty years must have used at least 5 to 6 symbols to indicate the focus or significance of the Association. During the tenure of this EC, we have toyed with many designs done by Kriti Resource Centre, New Delhi. Early this year, given the urgency to share with all of you and also popularise it during the conference, I had reworked the design and the KRITI Resource Centre, New Delhi, had given it a final shape. We submit the logo to this August body for acceptance.

IX CONFERENCE

The major activity of the IAWS has always been the National Conference. The EC considers it important to one, move beyond metropolitan cities to regions where the presence of women from all over the country gives a fillip to activities in the region and two, focus on region specific issues through the State Panel. This year the National Conference at Bhubaneswar had been possible due to the enthusiastic response from the University Vice Chancellor, Prof. Pandav Nayak, Prof. Asha Hans, Director, School of Women's Studies, and members of all other Faculty, the NGOs and women's organisations of the region.

The energy of the volunteers is evident in all the Committees responsible for various tasks. The printing of all the publications given to you in the Conference kit, have been compiled in Mumbai and printed in Orissa. The 'Our Story' publication had been compiled and typeset in Pune and printed in Orissa. The long distance co-ordination of the Conference would not have been possible, without a competent, cool and efficient person like Prof. Asha Hans, who managed the logistics.

As you all are aware, we had an estimated budget of Rs. 26,25,000 for the Conference. The President of the Association, Dr. Zarina Bhatty had done the maximum fund raising. The funders for this Conference are Oxfam- Rs. 8,50,000 (Food and accommodation); Ford (Rs. 7,50,000), DFID (Rs. 7,50,000) and ICSSR (Rs. 80,000). Final approvals from Government of India and National Commission for Women were being awaited when this report went to press. Prof. Hans, had raised funds from UNICEF, OXFAM, IMFA and Urmila Trust, USA, to support contingency expenditure of the Conference. We place on record our deep appreciation to these organisations for their continued support to the Association.

X MEMBERSHIP DIRECTORY

Consecutive General Secretaries struggle with Membership Directory where new members keep joining in all categories throughout the year, where old records for Life Members are not available and members do not inform change of address. I would like to request every member here to keep the Secretariat informed about the change of address. This will help us keep in touch with you and will also save us wasted resources on undelivered post. You may check your address in the Members Directory, correct it if necessary and also place your E-mail ID. It is extremely helpful. The Membership of the Association as on September 30, 2002 is Life – 1040, Ordinary – 181, Institutional – 26 and Students – 36.

XI OTHER ISSUES

- The lack of a clear archival space for the IAWS is hampering the documentation of the history of the IAWS. Valuable letters, correspondence, messages, conference papers, newsletters and publications are spread out in all locations wherever the Secretariat visited. There is a possibility of a lot of loss of information in the process. There is a clear need for a central administrative or archival office for maintaining material generated and also to maintain a permanent place for membership directory. Funds for the same and the best way of doing it, to strengthen the existing system of a moving Secretariat has to be worked out.

- Storing material that is books, reports, photographs and so on electronically that is on a compact disc (CD) may be a good solution. The new EC may take this up.
- There are many more Women's Studies Centres all over the country now. Not all of them are members of the Association. The Association has to build stronger links with these Centres (UGC and non-UGC) in the coming years. A lot of hand-holding is required especially in a period where funding for higher education is declining by the hour.
- Efforts to start and strengthen regional language based Women's Studies Associations have to be made.

I wish to thank this distinguished body for electing me to the EC and the EC for vesting the faith in me to undertake all the activities. Without the co-operation that I have received from Zarinadi, Pushpatai, Rameshwaridi, Vidyutai, Ashadi and all members of the EC; my Head of the Department, Prof. Chhaya Datar, my Institute and last but not the least the Programme Co-ordinator, Ms. Susheela Nagaraj Joshi, this would not have bene so enjoyable.

NEWSLETTER EDITOR'S REPORT

The Editorial Board of the Newsletter was constituted immediately after the newly elected EC met and I assumed responsibility as the Editor of the IAWS Newsletter. An even representation from different disciplines and from the women's movement was a deciding factor in inviting members to be on the Editorial Board . Pushpa Bhave as a Vice President and a guiding force, Simrita Gopal Singh, a founder member of Alochana, Centre for Documentation and Research, Sulbha Patole a Lecturer of Commerce and activist of the Dalit Mahila Sanghatana, Sadhana Natu a feminist Psychologist and mental health activist, Ujwala Mehendale a professional Editor of a feminist magazine and Sharmila Rege of the Women's Studies Centre, University of Pune have all worked on the Board to ensure the relevance of the Newsletter. Anagha Tambe and Swati Dyahadroy of the Women's Studies Centre have been there through all the meetings and the pains and pleasures of the planning and production of the Newsletters. Zarina Appa has guided and Lakshmi Lingam and Rameshwari Varma have supported all our ideas through the last two years.

The first meeting of the Editorial Board decided that the issues of the newsletter should seek to combine discussions on contemporary issues with reports and announcements of seminars and workshops. The first issue (November 2000) announced the theme of the second issue - a special issue (April 2001) on the increasing violence against young girls. The increasing cases of murders of young girls who had affirmed their right to say 'no' has been an issue that the women's movement in Western India has had to grapple with. The issue was planned as a platform for analysing the increase in the number of these cases and seeking regional comparisons on the issue and the strategies. The issue had contributions from Kerala, Maharashtra and Haryana and debated the impact of liberalisation and religious fundamentalism on female youth cultures.

The third issue (September 2001) was an issue woven around the gender dimensions of globalisation . The issue sought to underline the far reaching consequences of militarisation and communalisation of development on women's lives . The globalisation of Psychiatry and gender, caste and environmental concerns were highlights. A selection from the Annotated Bibliography on the theme published by Lakshmi Lingam of the Tata Institute of social Sciences was also added. The Editorial Board suggested that a page for select bibliography on themes of contemporary relevance must in fact become a regular practice.

The Fourth issue (January 2002) was planned as a special issue on "Indian Women in the Political Process' . The board unanimously decided to invite Dr. Medha Kotwal who has been engaged with the theme for over a decade as a Guest Editor for this issue. The issue brought together experiences from Maharashtra, Kerala and Karnataka. Again a select bibliography on the theme was included and interviews with elected representatives brought in live experiences from the field.

The fifth issue was also a special issue on the theme of mental health. Sadhana Natu, one of the members of the Board was the Guest Editor. The issue mapped the question of violence, sexual harassment, child sexual abuse and mental health. In the context of the Gujarat carnage there was an article on communal violence and questions of mental health was invited. Lists of organisations working on issues of mental health were also included.

The five issues have included reports of different regional seminars, workshops and celebrations of the Bhartiya Stree Mukti Divas and the Global March 2000 were well received.

Looking back on the five issues, the Editorial team expressed satisfaction about the range of themes covered. However, it was felt that more efforts were needed for acquiring contributions from different regions. The practice of having regional editors, which some of the earlier boards had instituted could have been explored. During the last meeting of the Editorial Board, members talked about the experience of editing the Newsletter. All agreed that the experience had taught us a lot and inspired a sense of a collective. It was decided that the possibilities of publishing selected contributions from each issue in the regional languages would be explored.

Several of the members encouraged us with their comments. There were appreciative comments about the content and the 'face' of the Newsletter. For the latter, we have Sujit Patwardhan of Mudra to thank. He took a personal interest in the visuals and composition of the issues. The office staff of the Krantijyoti Savitribai Phule Women's Studies Centre-Menaka Ashtekar, Smita, Madhavi, Yogita and Archana worked extra time so that schedules could be maintained. I take this opportunity to thank them all. The experience of editing the Newsletter has been meaningful and energising.

Greetings to all the Members of the General Body,

We received the second instalment of the Ford Foundation Grant of Rs. 15,00,000/- on 11.10.2000. The Balance of Funds as on 30.09.2002 is as follows:

| | Rupees |
|---|---|
| Balance with the Treasurer | 4,51,888 |
| Balance of funds with the Secretary | 74,078 |
| Total balance of funds as on 30.09.2002 | 5,56,258 |

The detail statement of accounts for the years 2000-2001 and 2001-2002 has been provided to you. The accounts for both the years have been submitted also to the Income Tax office at Mumbai. The Statement of accounts related to FCRA has been sent to Home Ministry for both the years. I am happy to inform the house that the IAWS has received the PAN Number from the I.T. Department.

I am glad to inform the General Body that the present E.C. has added an interest of Rs. 84,452/- ( as on 31.03.2002 ) to the funds of the IAWS by adopting a policy of keeping short term Fixed Deposits of the Ford Foundation Grants.

During the tenure of the present E.C. a total of 268 members have been enrolled. The following is the break up of the different categories:

|---|---|
| Student Membership | 41 |
| Ordinary Membership | 109 |
| Life Membership | 106 |
| Institutional Membership: Ordinary | 1 |
| Institutional Life | 10 |
| Friends of Association | 1 |
| Total | 268 |

A total amount of Rs. One Lakh Seventy Thousand Three Hundred and Fifty (Rs. 1,70,350) has been collected as Membership Subscription.

The highest number of memberships has come from Orissa, followed by Delhi, Maharashtra, Karnataka and West Bengal.

- As per convention the present E.C. had a joint E.C. meeting with the outgoing E.C. at Hyderabad in 2002. The present E.C. had its first independent meeting on 30th and 31st of August 2002. Thereafter we have held two E.C. meetings at Mumbai and one E.C. meeting at Delhi and one office bearers' meeting at Pune.

During the tenure of the present E.C. six regional seminars/workshops have been held. These seminars/workshops were held at Ranchi & Bhubaneswar in the Eastern Region, at Madurai and Bangalore in the Southern Region, at Mumbai in the Western region and at Lucknow in the Northern Region. The total of Rs. 1,24,469 has been spent by the IAWS towards these seminars.. These seminars/workshops could be held on a larger scale because of collaborations with local institutions that have contributed funds matching to our contribution, and in some instance, much more than our contribution. The reports of these workshops have been brought out in print as publication of IAWS.

Another important expenditure of the IAWS is towards publication of newsletters and sending them to all our members. I am happy to inform you that the present editorial team has ably brought out five issues of our newsletters. The total expenditure towards bringing out the newsletter and postage is approximately Rs. 1,50,000/-. The editorial team is also bringing out a special publication for the 10th National Conference of the IAWS. I congratulate the editorial team for all their efforts and dedication.

- The election for the next E.C. was conducted during May to September 2002. The IAWS has spent Rs. 74,500/- towards conducting the elections. I wish to inform the house that the funding for IAWS from Ford Foundation gets over in December 2002. IAWS has to search afresh for further funding for its activities.
- We are amidst our 10th National Conference. The Conference has received funds from the following sources: Oxfam, Ford Foundation, Government of India, ICSSR, UNICEF, IMA, Urmila Trust, and the National Commission for Women.

Before I close I wish to express my gratitude to all those who have helped me in carrying out my tasks as Treasurer.

IAWS as a National Organisation has a characteristic of choosing its E.C. from various parts of India and rightly so. As a result the office bearers also are spread out in different places. Therefore there is a need for understanding, co-operation and support from the entire team. I wish to thank whole-heartedly the President, the Secretary and the other members of the E.C. for placing confidence in me as Treasurer and for extending their full co-operation and support to me. Each one of them, whenever they have handled funds of IAWS has been very prompt in sending me the accounts. Thanks to all of them again. I wish to thank Ms. Susheela, Co-ordinator for her very prompt accounts rendering at the Secretary's end.

I was quite apprehensive of how I will carry out the Treasurer's tasks. The able support I have received from Ms. Nagarathna, Accountant and Mr. Prabhakar, Accounts help have made my tasks much easier. I thank them for all their help and support.

Mr. A.K. Ranganathan, our Auditor has been painstaking in understanding the IAWS set up and IAWS Accounts and he has ably guided me wherever necessary. My heartfelt thanks to him.

Thank you all for everything.
